JA STOCK MARKET CHALLENGE

Ernst & Young | 200 Clarendon Street | Boston, MA 02116

Junior Achievement of Greater Boston's Stock Market Challenge teaches financial literacy to high school students in a fun and engaging way. Your sponsorship ensures 1,300 local students learn vital stock market concepts through five in-class lessons, covering investing, risk management, and teamwork. The curriculum is completed in 60-day simulated trading experience, generously hosted by Ernst & Young in Boston's Back Bay. Students will "trade" in real-time and experience all that they've learned in a dynamic, hands-on application.

After students have completed their simulation, you and your colleagues are invited to attend your own Corporate Stock Market Challenge. The evening reception will repeat the students' fictional trading activities, combined with cocktails, appetizers, and networking - all to support JA's mission to prepare students for success in the global economy. You and your colleagues are invited to join the Corporate Stock Market Challenge for a thrilling evening of fictional trading, networking, and supporting JA's mission to prepare students for success.
